If you are searching for a distinctive venue to host your next event or meeting, look no further than the Rosenbach of the Free Library of Philadelphia. Located on picturesque residential Delancey Place just steps from Rittenhouse Square, and home to one of the world's greatest collections of literary treasures, the Rosenbach offers a comfortable and intimate space where your guests can move seamlessly between the present and the historic past.

Museum exhibitions will be open for your guests to explore at their leisure during their time here. We also offer tours of our beautiful historic house, including a stunning rare book library.

The Rosenbach is perfect for corporate or private gatherings of discriminating guests.

Join us for your next event.

Basic A/V available. For more information please contact Alice Emerson at 215-732-1600 x132 or aemerson@rosenbach.org
