

Moore Series VII: Notebooks

Moore's notebooks provide a wealth of material which the poet used while working on her poems. Her "Reading Diaries" (VII:01:01 through VII:03:06) are filled with notes made from books and periodicals from 1907-1969. VII:03:07 and VII:03:08 are reading diaries written by Mary Warner Moore and probably read or used by Marianne Moore. The word "Biographie" is written on the cover, but contents are a mix of reading notes, conversation notes, and other fragments, not biographical. The top of p.[3] ([1 has only a few lines, partly-erased and [2] is blank) reads: "Biographic (Title)".

Notebooks VII:03:10 through VII:04:03 contain Moore's notes made from conversations. Those numbered VII:04:04 through VII:04:07 contain notes for and drafts of poems. Particularly important, VII:04:04 has working notes/drafts of "Marriage," "An octopus," "Sea unicorns...," "Silence," and other poems of the 1920s and early 1930s.

Two music notebooks (VII:04:08 and VII:04:09) list concerts attended or heard over the radio. Travel notebooks (VII:04:10 through VII:05:02) include extensive descriptions of trips, 1932-1954. VII:05:03, written by Mary Warner Moore, covers her and Marianne's first two trips abroad, 1911-1927.

The remaining notebooks contain notes made during lectures at Bryn Mawr; notes on sermons; a reading list; drafts of and extracts from correspondence; and sketchbooks, ca. 1910-1949.
